Carbon Concierge, and our partners, build a strategy that gets your company to scale on your sustainability campaign quickly and efficiently. We create a plan that is easy to implement and includes employee engagement at almost every level. Our goal is to get your company as close to carbon balanced as possible but also to have your stakeholders as involved as they want to be

Business Development support grounded in a Return on Sustainability (ROS)

Many business leaders now realize the long-term cost benefit of addressing sustainability in their organizations. Carbon Concierge, and our partners offer you tools and metrics to make solid sustainable, business decisions for both the long and short term. From energy to recycling to CSR our Return on Sustainability (ROS)* framework helps you prioritize the financial, environmental and social return on your investments. These quantifiable metrics help to prepare organizations for emerging government regulations as well as to make strategic decisions on carbon emission reductions.

Support in the navigation of your Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) plan

The CSR component of any company's sustainability package is fast becoming the core road map of a business' green strategy. Because social, environmental and financial metrics have become so strongly intertwined it is now considered good risk abatement to implement a CSR framework. Carbon Concierge can help you maneuver the challenges of this portion of your project. Areas to address include labor relations, both internal to your own operations, and throughout your supply-chain, education, diversity, community engagement, cultural and environmental impacts.

Choosing a carbon offset provider based on COPEM, our carbon offset provider evaluation matrix

When you have reached or exceeded your target emission reduction goals and you are ready to purchase offsets to cover what you can't reduce Carbon Concierge can help guide you through the decision making process for your offset purchases. Using our carbon offset provider evaluation matrix we can match your needs with a provider that meets or exceeds industry criteria standards. Our data can be cross-referenced with your company's social and environmental mission, which is then used to weight the scoring to match you with the correct offset provider.
